FOLLOWED BY DECLINES

NEW YORK, August 12.—An opening advance was followed by sharp declines in the cotton market this morning under liquidattion or realizing for over the week end and southern selling. December contracts broke from 21.28 to 20.75 and the market closed at the lowest with the tone barely steady at a net decline of 35 to 48 points.

There was comparatively little de-mand after prices turned downward, which suggested that the technical position had eased on the rallies of Thursday and Friday and the lowest prices of the morning were reached prices of the morning were reached in the late trading, with October selling at 20.80 and January at 20.62. The week end figures attracted very little comment and traders found no special inspiration in week end reviews of the goods trade, which suggested that business had been restricted because of unsettled labor conditions and the uncertain ruling of raw-material markets. Sales of print cloths in the Fall River market for the week were estimated at only or the week were estimated at onl 70,000 pieces.

Brief Resume of Washington's Greatest Hotel Undertaking:

THE SITE

The hotel site, at the southeast corner of Connecticut avenue and De Sales street, is regarded as one of the most advantageous in Washington. Connecticut avenue is a fastgrowing business thoroughfare and is now experiencing tremendous increases in land values. The site reaches 153 feet on Connecticut avenue, 455 feet on De Sales street and 140 feet on Seventeenth street northwest and contains approximately 60,000 square

THE LOCATION

The location for a superior modern hotel is regarded by experts as ideal. It is midway between the White House and Dupont circle and on the main artery of travel between the center of the city, Washington Heights and the high-class residential sections of the

The tremendous increase in land values all through this section, as yet only in the beginning, adds immeasurably to the attractiveness of the investment.

THE BUILDING

The building will be of best type reinforced concrete and steel construction, with exterior of limestone, brick and terra cotta trimming. The west section will be eleven stories high, with the east section nine stories. There will be approximately 1,050 rooms. The first two floors of the entire building will be devoted to public rooms, restaurants, lobbies, reception rooms, ballrooms, &c. The west section will be devoted exclusively to hotel purposes, with the remainder operated as an apartment hotel, both under the same management and with the same superior hotel service. The building, the equipment, the furnishings and the service will be second to none in the great cities of the country.

THE NEED

As to the need of a great establishment of this character all authorities agree. Washington today looms larger and larger in the eyes of the world. A great auditorium is assured and Washington is to be made the premier convention city of the nation. Without sufficient hotel accommodations, great conventions and thousands of delegates and visitors have been compelled to go elsewhere. The constantly growing importance of Washington from every standpoint makes such a hotel nothing less than an absolute necessity.

THE MANAGEMENT

Daniel P. Ritchey, of New York city, recognized authority on the operation of the fine modern hotel establishment, has been secured as managing director of Hotel Walker. Mr. Ritchey's vast experiences in directing the construction, arrangement, equipment and operation of some of America's foremost hotels, has been and will be invaluable in this enterprise. His expert knowledge has been employed in planning the hotel. Under his direction the enterprise will undoubtedly be a conspicuous success from the date of opening.

THE EARNINGS

The prospective earnings have been conservatively estimated by hotel experts and should yield the stockholder a substantial return over and above the 8% cumulative preferred dividend.

We Briefly Summarize From a Statement by Mr. Allan E. Walker:

August 11, 1922.

The Hotel Walker will be a marvelous creation reflecting great credit on the City of Washington, and particular credit on the stockholders whose investments make it possible, and the officers and directors who manage its affairs. The combined efforts of Mr. Robert F. Beresford, Architect; Messrs. Warren and Wetmore, Associate Architects; Mr. J. F. Musselman, Mechanical Engineer, Mr. Case B. Rafter and Mr. H. G. Balcom, Structural Engineers, and Mr. Daniel P. Ritchey, hotel expert, have resulted in the production of plans which I am firmly convinced provide for a building the superior of which, in attractiveness, does not exist in the country. With its ample lobby, wonderful promenade, beautiful palm room, attractive dining rooms and grills and its immense ballroom, it will be the center of activity, the pride of the city, its stockholders, its officers and directors. The past accomplishments of Mr. F. F. Gillen, Chief Engineer, in charge of construction, and the Longacre Engineering and Construction Company assure superior construction. The excellent progress made by the Warren F. Brenizer Company, under its large contract for the excavation and the substructure may I believe be taken as typical of the speed with which the operation will be brought to completion.

The success attending the board of directors in their various lines of endeavor will assure the stockholder of efficient management of the corporation's affairs. Outside of the feeling of pride which may justly come to each stockholder, I believe that the returns on the investment will be very satisfactory.
